- M.Sc. Biology

2012–2015 University of Iceland
- B.Sc. Biology

Additional training

2018 TraitTrain, International Plant Functional Traits Course
- 4 ECTS field course, 16–27 July 2018, Svalbard (course site)

Grants and awards

March 2020 Blikastaðasjóður

- Warming effects on decomposition rate in the Arctic depend on bioclimatic sub-zone, habitat and the responsiveness of plant communities. Main applicant, 1,000,000 ISK

January 2020 Icelandic Research Fund

- To graze or not to graze? Responses of plant-soil feedback processes to grazing protection in tundra ecosystems. Main applicant, 6,613,000 ISK. PhD grant, turned down to pursue a PhD in Gothenburg

April 2018 Best poster award, 19th ITEX meeting

- Decomposition responses to climate warming in the high and sub-Arctic. Stirling, Scotland

March 2017 Best poster award, Icelandic Ecological Conference

- Decomposition responses to climate warming and sheep grazing in the high and sub-Arctic. Hólar, Iceland

Teaching

2020–2025 University of Gothenburg

- Biodiversitet och Ekologi (BIO916 / LGBI12 / L9BI12)
- Växtekologi ur klimatperspektiv (BIO503)
- Naturvård, förvaltning och skötsel (BIO499)
- Naturvetenskapligt basår, ekologi (NBAB00)
- Ekologi och evolution för miljövetare

2020–2024 Supervision of two master's students

2018 United Nations University Land Restoration Training Programme

- Lecturer, module on Introduction to the use of references & exercise

2018 University Centre in Svalbard (UNIS)

- Flux of Matter and Energy from Sea to Land (AB-322)

2017–2018 University of Iceland

- Ecology for undergraduates (LÍF311G)
- Field course for undergraduates (LÍF536G)
- Ecology for graduates (LÍF505M)

Presentations and peer review

Presentations	10 conference presentations – 6 talks and 4 posters, 2017–2026, at ITEX, NSO, Nordic and Swedish Oikos, and Icelandic ecology and biology conferences
Peer review	5 reviews – For Functional Ecology, Journal of Ecology, Oikos, New Phytologist and Ecography
